NOT ASKED TO WITHDRAW REPUBLICANS HOPE THEY WON'T

One of the best political guessers in Honolulu, a man who has been a Republican party leader for many years, but who is not now in politics and declines to be interviewed, is quoted as saying that the publications in theAdvertiser concerning the possible withdrawal of candidates Petrie and McClellan from the Democratic county ticket have been worth 500 votes to the Democratic ticket. This is on account of the intimations that the employers of these two candidates were going to compel them to withdraw under pressure from big business men who disapprove the Democratic platform.

As a matter of fact, there has not been the slightest pressure brought to bear upon either candidate by his employers, and they will not be forced to retire. It is known that last week Petrie considered retiring. The idea was his own entirely, and he discussed it with more than one friend. The Oahu Railway Company, of which he is an employee, had not, however, made any suggestion to him that it didn't want him to run.

Petrie, like others, is said to be dissatisfied with the Democratic platform, especially the plank regarding immigration, and he may withdraw on that account. It is said, however, to be very hard for him to do so now, owing to the published suggestion that he is being forced to. That may keep him on the ticket.

Republicans generally appear to think that the withdrawal of either McClellan or Petrie now would be a serious blow to the whole Republican ticket. "It would turn the course of Democratic oratory into new and effective channels," said one prominent Republican this morning. "Instead of discussing immigration we shall have the Democrats charging that Honolulu is so ruled by a few business men that a private citizen or employee cannot even hold his own political opinions. I don't know that Link would want any better thunder than that,—it would probably relieve him of the necessity of discussing immigration."

Already, the Democratic "runners" and spotters have begun to use the new issue, and when Link returns tomorrow he will try to make Rome howl with it.

COLORADO DEMOCRATIC SENATOR HERE; TELLS HOW HIS STATE PROSPERS THROUGH IMMIGRATION

United States Senator Charles J. Hughes Jr., of Colorado, who arrived in Honolulu by the P. M. S. S. Manchuria on a health trip, yesterday, gave some interesting facts this morning regarding work that is being carried on in his district to attract immigrants.

This Board of Immigration is composed of very capable people, who circulate facts concerning the land among those people most likely to be attracted by the resources of Colorado. The class of immigration is different from that carried on in the Hawaiian Islands, for there is no attempt made to attract foreigners. Most of those who migrate to Colorado are from the sister States.

The immigrants are not assisted in the sense of the word that is usually accepted, that is, the government does not offer them any help. The Board of Immigration receives an appropriation with which to carry on its work of advertising the resources, but mostly the people go in and form colonies; sometimes a religious sect will band together and take up land. But the state only wants people who are able to take care of themselves. Of course, assistance is given in the way of irrigation schemes, and only recently a big reclamation work was completed, and another work is nearing completion. Many millions of dollars have been expended in these two works.

Senator Hughes estimates that if all the lands were thrown open there would be about 64,000,000 acres available. That the work of this publicity department has been fruitful is shown by the increased products each year, and where at one time was a sandy desert, there are now prolific lands, yielding annually large fruit crops. Of course, the district has a big advantage inasmuch as the majority of those attracted to the lands are farmers; men who have had thorough experience, and, therefore, capable of getting from the soil all that can possibly be expected. Nine thousand car loads of fruit were despatched from Grand Junction last year. The effect of this immigration into Colorado, Senator Hughes thinks, will be shown by decreased population in many of the adjoining States, for the latest figures concerning the population of Colorado show a big increase.

Of course, there is some foreign immigration going on, but this is confined chiefly to Greeks, Italians, Russians and Austrians, who usually find employment in the coal mines. But the percentage of these nationalities is not very great. Beet sugar is raised there, and sixteen large factories have been running for some time, but this form of sugar raising is not like that of Honolulu. The digging is done by Mexicans, boys from the cities, and in a few instances, by Russians. Of course, it is not permanent, for the man who raises beet sugar this year will not of a necessity raise it again next year, for he might plant an entirely different crop the following season. What the figures concerning the output, etc., are, Senator Hughes could not recall.

Senator Hughes had very little to say on politics. The insurgent movement he did not consider anything new. Colonel Roosevelt's latest move had taken place after the Senator left, so he did not care to discuss that matter. He was also unfamiliar with the labor conditions ruling in these islands, for he is here on a pleasure trip for the benefit of his health, and for the present at all events, he is not doing much beyond his endeavor to rid himself of the rheumatism that has afflicted him for some time now.

Senator Hughes is a Democrat and is one of the new members of the Senate. He had a high reputation before being elected and at once became one of the influential members.

fixed a basis on which to begin his labors, but this, of course, might be materially changed after his observations. It is almost certain, Governor Frear stated this morning, that the original site will be adhered to.

In the second trial a verdict for defendant was rendered, and the plaintiff brought exception to rulings upon evidence to granting the defendant's motion that the plaintiff be examined by a physician, to certain instructions refused, and others which were given, to the verdict as being contrary to the law the evidence and the weight of evidence, and to the refusal of his motion for a trial based on the same grounds.

MANY PROMINENT PEOPLE ARRIVE ON THE WILHELMINA

After a very pleasant run across the Pacific from San Francisco the Matson Navigation Company's steamer Wilhelmina berthed at the company's wharf this morning before most of our residents were out of bed. Her expeditious berthing was due to the fact that Dr. E. R. Marshall of the quarantine department was on board and was able to grant the vessel a clean bill of health.

The Wilhelmina left 'Frisco on the 28th ult., and by arriving in Honolulu early this morning covered the distance in five days eighteen hours. The time is good, as the Wilhelmina had over 5,500 tons of cargo on board and a goodly list of passengers.

Among the passengers were many well known residents from the Coast and there were also a number of prominent Californians. Included in the list were Mr. E. D. Tenney, vice president and manager of Castle & Cooke, Mrs. Tenney and Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, in honor of whom the Wilhelmina was christened; Rudolph Spreckels, of sugar fame; J. Rolph, Jr., one of 'Frisco's business magnates and president of the chamber of commerce; W. A. Coulter, the marine artist, who is to paint a scene including Diamond Head; F. A. Stump, the new pharmacist for the U. S. Hospital Station; F. C. Atherton, of the Sugar Factors' Company; O. H. Swezey, of the U. S. Experimental Station; H. M. Coke, former Maui News editor; Misses Cary, Clara, Florence and Mary; Shipman, who are returning to Hilo; Dr. F. M. Taylor; Dr. D. S. Bowman of Hilo; Jos. McLellan, of Kaula; C. E. Wright of the Volcano Stables; and Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Harney, who are under engagement to the Park Theater.

The Wilhelmina averaged good time each day, her log showing 330, 379, 370, 379, and 370 up to noon yesterday.

The cargo was general merchandise of which 300 tons were for Honolulu and 2500 tons for Hilo. Thirteen automobiles were stored below decks, seven being for Honolulu and six for Hilo. Von Hamm-Young are the consignees for six autos and the Schuman Carriage Company has one on board.

The Wilhelmina leaves at 5 p. m. tomorrow for Hilo.

SPRECKELS VISIT AND THE MAHUKA BUILDING SITE

Among the more notable arrivals on the Wilhelmina this morning was Rudolph Spreckels, one of the Spreckels brothers and representative of the Spreckels interests in the islands. He is accompanied to the islands by T. Makee, a well known real estate man of San Francisco. Mr. Spreckels is here to look after property interests of himself and family in general, but more particularly to go into the matter of negotiating for the sale of the Spreckels property between Merchant, Alakea and Queen and the Stangenwald building for a site for the proposed Federal building.
